MISS GENEVIVE MAY. CATARRH OF STOMACH —CURED BY PE-RU-NA.

Miss Genevive May, 1917 St. Meridian St., Indianapolis, Ind., Member Second High School Alumni Ass'n, writes: "Peruna is the finest regulator of a disordered stomach I have ever found. It certainly deserves high praise, for it is so skillfully prepared. It was in a terrible condition from a neglected case of catarrh of the stomach. My food had long ceased to be of any good and only distressed me after eating. I was emaciated, had heartburn and headaches, and felt run down completely. But in two weeks after I took Peruna I was changed person. A few bottles of the medicine made a great change, and in three months my stomach was cleared of catarrh and my entire system in a better condition."—Genevive May.

Fun and Facts! Knowledge made Fascinating!

The Standard Reference Book of this Country!

The Funniest Book Ever Written!

Bill Nye's Comic History of the United States

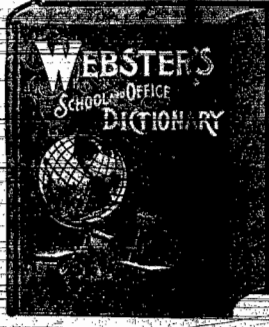

With 140 Illustrations by Fred Oppen

Bill Nye, the great American humorist, has written the story of our country in his own way. He treats fully and accurately on the progress of civilization in North America, from the discovery by Columbus to the last decade. All the main facts are respected, but Bill treats them in a humorous manner, with just enough satire to make it irresistibly funny, yet all in good taste. Every reader, old or young, can get a deal of fun out of this book while adding to his knowledge.

Webster's School and Office Dictionary

OF THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE

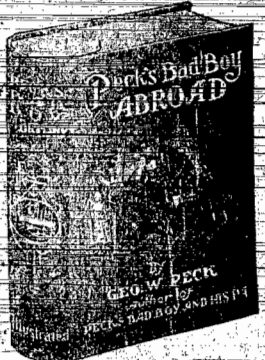

A complete and reliable volume designed to give the most comprehensive light on recent advances in knowledge, in the readiest form for popular use.

Dictionaries, as a rule, are bulky volumes which seek to be exhaustive, and in so doing they introduce hundreds of words which not one person in a hundred is likely ever to look for. Such a book has its uses, but it is not adapted to ordinary family purposes or the convenience of those who wish to QUICKLY GAIN INFORMATION. It is for this class that the present work has been carefully prepared, embodying the scope of words and terms extensively used among the Peck's Bad Boy Abroad!

By HON. GEO. W. PECK.
 Author of Peck's Bad Boy and The Ten Little Indians, The Five Princes, Peck's Last Down-the-River, etc.

It is a new book about this bad boy who has been in more mischief and created more fun than any other boy in the world. The bad boy accompanies his dad on a tour around the world, which the latter takes for his health. They visit all the foreign lands and call on many of the crowned heads. The Bad Boy keeps up his pranks before the Royalty of Europe and plays many funny tricks on them.

Every Line a Laugh! A Very Funny Book.

Written amid the whirl of travel in the author's own mirth-provoking style. Don't miss it. Peck's Bad Boy Abroad contains 471 pages, over a thousand good hearty laughs, 126 illustrations by D. S. Groesbeck and R. W. Taylor.

Printed on good paper. New Type. New Plates. Bound in cloth with attractive cover in colors.

There is a solid education in this book, and it has the advantage of being sugar-coated with fun.

F. Oppen, the celebrated humorous artist, has added untold value to the work by 140 illustrations (one of which, much reduced in size, is reproduced here) that will cause many a hearty laugh.

350 pages of Rollicking Mirth, Roaring Laughs and Invigorating Amusement!

Editor Green River Republican: As there seems to be a considerable controversy between some of the dear old comrades of the 11th Kentucky living in and near Morgantown as to where we spent Christmas 1863 and many other events of the war and now as it has been over forty years since the war, no wonder it seems more a dream than a reality.

Now I wish to tell what I remember about some of the movements of the Regiment. As I have heretofore stated we left Bowling Green September 1863 for Knoxville, Tenn., going by the way of Glasgow, Barkeville, Monticello and Williamsburg, the last named being the county seat of Whitley County; then to Pine Knot, crossing the mountain in Campbell County, Tenn.; we then crossed Cheek River at Craig's Ford about twenty-seven miles Knoxville; we then went to Knoxville and from there to Loudon, where we remained until Longstreet with his Legion came and sent us back to Knoxville; we then crossed Holston River and went to Rockford where we remained but a short time before being sent to a second order and more binding this time, as we were more stubborn and didn't care to obey his orders any longer.

However after giving him a warm reception we did obey returning to Knoxville after outstanding every foot of ground; here we remained until after a strike of about twenty-two days and after the strike was raised we got awful spunky and allowed him to beat us at this place he turned and gave us a very respectable fighting. George Embry, Rabe Ferris and myself were among the wounded this being December about the 16th 1863. Ferris and I were sent back to the hospital at Knoxville where Ferris died of his wounds, and I stayed until the last day of January 1863.

Then rejoined my Regiment the first day of February at Powell's Valley about three miles above Cumberland Gap. Now comrades where did you take Christmas 1863? We were then ordered to Kentucky going through Cumberland Gap to Mt. Sterling where we were reorganized and sent to Lexington where we were again dismounted and ordered back to the front, going by the way of Summersville and crossing the mountain at same place that we crossed the first time and on by the way of Knoxville and London to Charleston on the south side of Hiwassee river and from there to Dalton, Ga., leaving Lookout Mountain many miles to the right. Now Mr. Jolly, do you are you going back to Lookout Mountain to kill snakes and slithering insects. We are back on the Georgia campaign and never have seen Lookout Mountain neither do we expect to.

THE COMMERCIAL CLUB. This has been a busy week with the Morgantown Commercial Club. On Monday night they held a public meeting and were addressed by Mr. Lebor on the new railroad, electric lights and an ice factory.

On Tuesday night the club met again and heard the report of the committee above mentioned and voted to appropriate $25.00 of the funds of the Club to pay Mr. Lebor for full plans and specifications of an electric light plant.

By a unanimous vote of the Club C. W. Neal was received as a member, who thereupon delivered a most laudatory speech encouraging the club to press onward and upward.

Editor's prediction that the automobile will yet put the horse in the barn is very nearly verified by the facts. It repeatedly puts both the horse and driver in the ditch.

Aunt Sooky.

Oh, goodness I am so happy to see spring days come. I think we have thanksgiving day at the wrong time. It ought to be along about now when people could give thanks to the Lord for bringing us through another dark and dreary winter and permitting them to see more of the blue blue sky.

Well, I wonder if my old eyes will be permitted to see the steam kars a change thru the woods and around the hills of my own, my loved, my native land. It sounds funny and strange just to think about it, but what will the real thing be like. Oh it will be wonderful and strange. I am afraid it will deprive my old county of its home-like charm and make me feel like I was in a strange land, and that's a awful feeling. But when I see the dear old familiar faces of Joe and Bob I guess I will be alright again.

Joe left and says the kars would steer my old ears and make em quit layin. I left and told Joe I hoped the kars would steer him and make him quit layin. Now Bob is a pretty good joker too but he is not foremost when it comes to kars.

One thing is pretty certain about them kars, if they do come there won't be any craps raised this year in Butler County, but I think we could afford to miss one crop to get the railroad. By next year our people would begin to get over the excitement and raise big crops again.

And it looks now like our town is going to step out into the blue electric track line. This also looks like better things would come to pass in our part of the world. And they air to burn brighter. Lights air the darkest and strongest nites that ever come.

But among the new dangers they have got up is a hot party to warm up the houses when they go on supper and take loads of things. I think they air mitey nice and nobby but I don't know where I will put all the things when they git around to me but I will make Joe and Bob store them away somehow.

I have got started off on the wrong foot this week and can't stop at all. I guess I had better quit tryin and waste till I can collect my thoughts.

I will say before I close that I heard that Joe was doing a powerful lot of talkin over the telephone here lately. But that is puttin him up to a lot of messes - like about the devil and his imps will appear yonder they both come now.

The Y. M. C. A. A Young Men's Christian Association was organized here last Sunday afternoon. N. W. Gore was elected president, Ches P. Morehead, Secy.

A board of directors composed of Dr. A. E. Gardner, D. A. Kelley and R. B. Morehead was also elected. About sixty members have been enrolled. Our people should hail with great interest this worthy move and lend it every encouragement possible.

The association after it is better established will install Reading Rooms and later on a Gymnasium.

Gone Home. Welcome, Ky. My brother, C. H. Embry, after a long spell of suffering was on Feb. 21, called in his long-sought home. He was in his 69th year. He was a faithful member in the church and a faithful superintendent of the Sabbath school. He leaves a loving wife and three brothers and a host of friends and many little school children to mourn his absence. He will be greatly missed by all who knew him, but thank God our loss is his gain. Farewell brother till we meet again.

THEY ARE COMING, FATHER ABRAHAM

Home Seekers are Coming to Butler County.

Home-seekers have evidently heard of Butler County and are turning their eyes this way.

In this issue will be seen the advertisement of Mr. Buell Wilkerson, of Falls of Rough, Ky., wanting to buy a farm in our county. Read his advertisement and if you have anything like he wants write to him.

Dr. McClure, of Tompkinsville, was at the Pine Lawn hotel Monday night, and is in our midst looking for a home. He wants to buy a small farm with some bottom land. Others are likely to be heard from. Our people should treat these home-seekers with respect and consideration and help them in finding a home in our midst. If you own who has property to sell would advertise same in the Green River Republican there would be less trouble in finding buyers and sellers together. It pays to advertise not only as the advertiser.

Roll Jordan, roll!

THE KENTUCKY CHILDREN'S HOME SOCIETY has sixty boys and girls between the ages of three and nine for whom they desire good, Christian homes. These children are unusually bright and attractive and we guarantee that no family will be disappointed in a child we send them.

The winter months have given us an enormous amount of work to do. We are receiving more children now in a month than we formerly did in a year and as a rule, the children are much brighter and much better looking and much easier controlled than children we formerly handled.

Will you not show your interest in this great work for humanity by giving a home to one of these little ones? Unless you have a first class home in every respect and unless you are moral and stand well in your community, do not apply, as we will, under no circumstances, place a child in a home unless it can get the very best advantages.

This is the Master's work, inasmuch as he said "Suffer little children to come unto Me and forbid them not." If you are interested in this charity, and would like to take a child, please address the Kentucky Children's Home Society, No. 2112 Your Homes Avenue, Louisville, Ky.

Yours very respectfully, GEORGE L. SMITH, State Supt.

AN INDIAN'S CUNNING

THE BLACKFEET'S STORY OF THE GREAT WHITE HORSE

During seasons by which the Blackfeet of All America was secured for his own tribe by the Smartest Chief among the Crow.

All Indians who use horses are very fond of horse-racing and not only race their own horses against one another, but they race their own against those of other tribes and used to do this even in the wild era of the buffalo and of constant warfare. Even at that time frequently tribes and bands joined in the two grand buffalo hunts of each year and after the hunting was over pitched the fastest horses of the various bands one against the other. At this time not so very long ago the Blackfeet had the very fastest horse that any one knew of, the fastest horse of which any one could tell or which any one had seen. He was a source of wealth to the tribe for Indians are very fond of betting and this animal always won every time that was bet against him. You can imagine how proud the Blackfeet were of this creature. You can also imagine how covetous were the Indians of the Crow, the Sioux, the Creeks and all the other Indians of the plains.

Steadfastly mastered feet between tribes and it can be successfully done those savage people think it very honorable, even glorious. The Blackfeet, therefore, kept the wonderful race-horse in a tent at night. They did not dare leave him out with their other horses. They bought a string of bells at the Hudson Bay company's nearest fort, put the bells around the horse's neck, tied him to a rope pole inside a tent, and set four men to guard the tent with him. This was not very every night and on no night did the men forget to close the door of the tent and "watch" it with things of buckskin. Whoever caught the big white beauty of a horse had to be a very clever thief, they thought; but, in truth, they never dreamed that he could be stolen.

The smartest thief among the Crow Indians told his chief and the chief that he was going to try to get that horse away from the Blackfeet. One evening he crawled through the grass to the tall bluff along the river bank of our tribe. I think, was the locality, where the Blackfeet had their camp. He saw the noble horse led into a certain tent, and he saw the four watchers go in and close the door. Night fell, and he crept down the slanting bluff into the camp. The only thing he had to fear was the barking of some dog. If a dog saw or heard him and barked, that would set all the other dogs barking, and he would be obliged to run for his life. He stealthily as only an Indian can move on his soft-soled moccasins, he took a thick carpet of the Crow's skin and laid it over the Blackfeet camp. He had to step over several sleeping dogs, and he did not awaken one. He came to the tent of the white horse. He looked at all over. He went to another tent and took a travois from its side and carried it and set it up against the horse's tent.

A travois is the wheel-less wagon the Indians use in the woods. It is made of two long poles with the ends near together, the lower ends spread apart and drag upon the ground. You see by this description that if a travois is stood on end it can be made to serve as a sort of ladder. Thus the architect of the Crow used the one he put up against the horse's tent. On it he climbed to the top of the tent and from there he saw the four men sitting looking down between the tent poles that form the sides of the chimney hole. He saw the horse dimly, and even more dimly he saw the four men beside the horse, all asleep. He climbed upon the tent poles; he poised his body very nicely in the chimney opening, he dropped fairly and squarely upon the white horse's back.

The instant he felt himself on the back of the horse his knife, which was in his hand, swept through the cord that tethered the horse. This look upon the horse's sides, the bells rang out sharp and clear, and the horse snorted with surprise. But the pressure of the thief's heels urged the animal forward, and as he took one step the man crouched out and still a dash straight up and down through the fastened door, which was only buckskin. The four Indians leaped to their feet, but the horse and his captor were now out in the open ground and like the wind shot away from the camp. The watchers ran and yelled, the dogs barked, the whole tribe rushed out of the tents, and every man sprang to horse. But what was the use? There was no horse that could catch the animal, and so they all turned aside and again after a mad ride of a mile or two. The thief rode in triumph home to the tents of the Crow, and from that day his tribe owned the great white horse, and his fame and their riches increased.
